

Carl-Henrik Heldin

Professor in Molecular Cell Biology, Uppsala University, Sweden

Carl-Henrik Heldin is Professor in Molecular Cell Biology at the Department of Medical Biochemistry and Microbiology at Uppsala University since 1992. In addition, Carl-Henrik Heldin is the chair of the boards of the Nobel Foundation. Carl-Henrik Heldin obtained his PhD degree in Medical and Physiological Chemistry in 1980 at the University of Uppsala, where he continued to work until 1985 using a position sponsored by the Swedish Cancer Society. Between 1986 and 2017 he was the Director of the Uppsala Branch of the Ludwig Institute for Cancer Research.

Carl-Henrik Heldin was the Vice President of the European Research Council until 2014. He is a member of several learned societies, including the European Molecular Biology Organization, the Royal Swedish Academy of Sciences, Academia Europea, and American Academy of Arts and Sciences. He serves or has served on the Scientific Advisory Boards for several companies and academic institutions, including the German Cancer Center, Heidelberg, Max Planck Institute for Biochemistry, Martinsried, European Institute for Oncology, Milan, and European Molecular Biology Laboratory, Heidelberg. He has received the Prix Antoine Lacassagne Award (1989), K. Fernströms Large Medical Prize (1993), the Pezcoller-American Association for Cancer Research Award (2002) and Anders Jahre's Large Medical Prize (2019). He has published more than 440 research articles and 210 reviews that have been cited >71,000 times.